Z reports - Amex transactions

If your Verofy® Move is configured to accept Amex payments, you'll see two Z report options.

It is important to remember that Verofy® have no responsibiity for processing and settling Amex transactions. We can only accept Amex Merchant ID accounts whereby Amex directly process and settle Amex transactions.

The Verofy® Move routes Amex transactions directly to Amex. You can run a Z report to see the terminal summary of Amex transactions processed since the last Amex Z report. To do this, select the Z report (End of Day) button from the Admin menu, then select the Amex option.

If you want to check the totals against Amex's host, you'll need to also complete a reconciliation report to give this level of information. You can find out more about the reconciliation report by clicking the hyperlink above.

Any funding queries regarding Amex transactions should be raised to Amex directly.
